

■ Chair and Opening Remarks

Prof. Heigo Sato

Professor, Takushoku University

Vice President, Takushoku University Institute of World Studies

■ Key Note Speech

Prof. Owen Greene

Professor, Division of Peace Studies and International Development, University of Bradford

■ Presentations

Mr. Eric Berman

Director, Small Arms Survey

Dr. Tamara Enomoto

Research Fellow, Meiji University Research Institute for the History of Global Arms Transfer

Mr. Nicholas Marsh

Research Fellow, Peace Research Institute Oslo (PRIO)

This side event is organized by the Meiji University Research Institute for the History of Global Arms Transfer. It is supported by Department of Peace Studies and International Development, University of Bradford, the Peace Research Institute Oslo (PRIO) and the Small Arms Survey. It is partially funded by the Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology's (MEXT, Japan) Program for the Strategic Research Foundation at Private Universities, 2015-2019 and JSPS KAKENHI Grant Numbers JP16K17075 and 16KT0040.

Using the ATT to Prevent Diversion

Monday 20 August 2018

13.15-14.45

Room TSUZUMI 3

Hotel Chinzanso Tokyo

Diversion plays a key role in undermining arms transfer controls and in arming parties involved in conflict and organized crime; and the ATT can play a key role in preventing and reducing it. This side event will present recent research to clarify the complex risks of diversion and to develop ATT Implementation mechanisms and best practices for preventing and combatting diversion.

